Lisa Bastian

Tropics Lifestyle® magazine publisher
Journalist & PR
GalBackground Investigator
San Antonio, Texas, United States

Summary

Hello, I'm Lisa Bastian, a professional, ethical and dependable business communicator. That means I am a journalist/copywriter, editor, managing editor and PR practitioner working in print/online worlds.

During the pandemic, I followed my heart and laid the foundation for my own digital home/garden magazine, Tropics Lifestyle (to be housed on www.TropicsLifestyle.com).

My portfolio overflows with more than 550 magazine and newsletter articles, brochures and guidebooks, business/technical editing gigs, website creation projects, press releases/kits, and executive bios. + Visit www.BastianPR.com portfolio website for details.

Communications is my calling. Bottom line: I love words, and use them deftly to tell stories about ideas, people, places and companies. Over the years I've been fortunate to have won 35+ communications awards from IABC (Gold, Silver, Bronze Quills) and other industry groups for simply doing work I thoroughly enjoy. Seriously; what's not to love about interviewing inspiring government, nonprofit and corporate leaders, or be given an opportunity to change hearts and minds about things that truly matter in the universe?

However, I get the most satisfaction when projects introduce me to "carpe diem" people living virtuous lives with great enthusiasm. I especially applaud the unselfish individuals working to uphold the dignity and worth of others, from the pre-born to the elderly. That's why I founded LinkedIn's Pro-Life Media & Communications group in 2009 (1,025+ members) to connect like-minded life savers, and served on a crisis pregnancy board a few years.

"Pray, hope and don't worry" (Padre Pio) is my mantra I share with you in these troubled times.

Country Lifestyle magazine

Managing Editor

December 2009 - March 2011 (1 year 4 months)

Boerne, Texas

Bi-monthly San Antonio & Texas Hill Country lifestyle magazine; part of Blue Sky Publications group. Edited/proofed all copy, managed freelance staff, helped set editorial calendar, assisted art director with layout, represented magazine at public functions, etc. Wrote 2 award-winning profiles about national jeweler James Avery and Boerne entrepreneur Tom Cusick. Also held position 2006-2007. Freelance. This general interest, luxury in-home magazine was region's most powerful advertising vehicle. Press run: 10,000 copies/issue. Readership covered Texas coast up to DFW. Also sold in HEB, Walmart throughout region.

InGenesis, Inc.

Dir. of Corporate Communications / PR Consultant
August 2008 - September 2009 (1 year 2 months)

San Antonio, Texas Area

First-ever and only employee responsible for establishing/implementing various corporate communications activities for this [then] small healthcare staffing agency in progress of transforming into a national, diversified healthcare services firm. Wrote numerous nomination packages which delivered multiple prestigious local, regional, multi-state awards honoring company, its president and/or Web site; e.g., 2009 Dept. of Commerce "Minority Service Firm of the Year" award (1 of 5 firms nationwide); listings as Inc5000 honoree (2009, 2008). Wrote content/site map for award-winning www.ingenesis.org and www.ingenesisarora.com. My PR efforts gained national exposure for firm, increased its credibility in staffing industry/community, and helped it win multi-million-dollar govt. staffing. Foundational efforts paid off, as in 2012 InGenesis was named the fifth-fastest growing inner city-based company in America by the Institute for a Competitive Inner City. Contract PR consultant, Aug. 2008 to April 2009; part-time employee April 2009 to September 2009.
